Mr. Peet offers a similar reward for every case of church dictation in politics. This, too, has never been applied for. The political tricksters and defamers of the church clamor continually about the church dominating the political action of its members, and talk glibly about the slavery of the "Mormon" masses, but they never bring forward an individual who has been required or compelled to vote against his own wishes, or who has been told how to use the elective franchise except with perfect liberty of choice either of men or measures. The failure to come forward and claim the money of to name any person who has been dictated in his political action, or to present a case of plural marriage, ordered, promoted, sciemnized or connived at by the church, sets the seal of falsehood upon all the repeated charges of a general character on both points and should be proof sufficient as to their untruth.

V. S. Peet is a thorn in the fiesh of the press assailants of the "Mormon" church and the ministerial repeaters of the newspaper stories. He is fearless as well as forcible, he does not care for their paper pellets or their pulpit poundings. He strikes the nail on the head every time and drives it through their fallacies and faisehoods, clinching it with the money proposition which they may treat lightly but never demand with the slightest expectation to obtain. They can only garble his remarks and belittle his financial possessions, and affect to laugh while he punctures their bags of foul air and scatters their anti-"Morestedly announced, and if foul air and scatters their anti-"Morsen any such unions consere not with the approval of the church. BUYER OF MONUMENTS ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Sleuths Who Found Bones About 5000 Years Old Have the Joke Turned.

PARIS, Aug. 26.-An old gentleman at Ternes has been charged with murder under curious circumstances.

A rag-picker rushed into the police station and threw down a bag of bones, declaring that they had been given to him to make away with, but he had dis covered them to be human.

Scenting a terrible crime, the inspector had the man locked up and then telephoned a magistrate. Soon after, the magistrate, inspector and two policemen called at the house where the bag had been handed to the rag-picker, and were received by an old gentleman in gold-rimmed spectacles.

The magistrate locked the door behind him, laid a calcined bone on the table, and said: "You gave this and other hu-man remains to a rag-picker." "I did." said the old gentieman. "I arrest you for murder," said the magistrate, sol-emnly, "who was your victim?"

emaily, "who was your victim?"
In reply the old gentleman in the gold spectacles burst out laughing. "The victim," he said, "is the son of the Grand Priest Diophta, who died in Egypt more than 3000 years before the birth of Christ. I bought him recently, but he did not keep well, so I preferred to get rid of him."

Exhaustive inquiries eventually led to the release of the rag-picker and apology to the mummy purchaser.

SNAKE THEIR BEDFELLOW

mmittee of the Social It Was Twenty-Four Feet Long-So Was the Scare It Gave Them.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 26.attractions at a tent show given on Van Cleef's field by a local fire company. Last night the snake escaped into the field. It is a tropical snake, and the again. It entered a side tent where slept two men. Attracted by the warmth of their bodies, it snuggled close and went by-low.

The men woke first, and with wild yells, "took it on the jump." One man is running still, but his partner, after his first fright, went to the spake charmer's tent, woke him, and had the snake re-stored to his rightful place.
